

110TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 818

To secure the Federal voting rights of certain qualified ex-offenders who have served their sentences.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

FEBRUARY 5, 2007

Mr. RANGEL introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary

A BILL

To secure the Federal voting rights of certain qualified ex-offenders who have served their sentences.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Ex-Offenders Voting
5 Rights Act of 2007”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

7 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following find-
8 ings:

9 (1) The right to vote is the most basic constitu-
10 tive act of citizenship and regaining the right to vote

1 reintegrates offenders into free society. The right to 2 vote may not be abridged or denied by the United 3 States or by any State on account of race, color,
4 gender, or previous condition of servitude. Basic con-
5 stitutional principles of fairness and equal protection
6 require an equal opportunity for United States citi-
7 zens to vote in Federal elections.

8 (2) Congress has ultimate supervisory power
9 over Federal elections, an authority that has repeat-
10 edly been upheld by the Supreme Court.

11 (3) Although State laws determine the quali-
12 fications for voting in Federal elections, Congress
13 must ensure that those laws are in accordance with 14 the Constitution. Currently, those laws vary
15 throughout the Nation, resulting in discrepancies re-
16 garding which citizens may vote in Federal elections.

17 (4) An estimated 5,400,000 individuals in the 18 United States, or 1 in 40 adults, currently cannot 19 vote as a result of a felony conviction. Women rep-
20 resent about 650,000 of those 5,400,000.

21 (5) State disenfranchisement laws dispropor-
22 tionately impact ethnic minorities.

23 (6) Thirteen States disenfranchise some or all
24 ex-offenders who have fully served their sentences,

1 regardless of the nature or seriousness of the of-
2 fense.

3 (7) In those States that disenfranchise ex-of-4 fenders who have fully served their sentences, the 5 right to vote can be regained in theory, but in prac-
6 tice this possibility is often illusory.

7 (8) In 8 States, a pardon or order from the 8 Governor is required for an ex-offender to regain the 9 right to vote. In 2 States, ex-offenders must obtain 10 action by the parole or pardon board to regain that 11 right.

12 (9) Offenders convicted of a Federal offense
13 often have additional barriers to regaining voting
14 rights. In at least 16 States, Federal ex-offenders
15 cannot use the State procedure for restoring their 16 voting rights. The only method provided by Federal 17 law for restoring voting rights to ex-offenders is a
18 Presidential pardon.

19 (10) Few persons who seek to have their right
20 to vote restored have the financial and political re-
21 sources needed to succeed.

22 (11) Thirteen percent of the African-American
23 adult male population, or 1,400,000 African-Amer-
24 ican men, are disenfranchised. Given current rates
25 of incarceration, 3 in 10 African-American men in

1 the next generation will be disenfranchised at some 2 point during their lifetimes. Hispanic citizens are 3 also disproportionately disenfranchised, since those 4 citizens are disproportionately represented in the 5 criminal justice system.

6 (12) The discrepancies described in this sub-7 section should be addressed by Congress, in the 8 name of fundamental fairness and equal protection.

9 (b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to restore
10 fairness in the Federal election process by ensuring that 11 ex-offenders who have fully served their sentences are not 12 denied the right to vote.

13 SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

6 shall not be denied or abridged because that individual has 7 been convicted of a criminal offense unless, at the time
8 of the election, such individual—

9 (1) is serving a felony sentence in a correctional 10 institution or facility; or

11 (2) is on parole or probation for a felony of-

13 civil action in such a court to obtain the declaratory
14 or injunctive relief with respect to the violation.

15 SEC. 6. RELATION TO OTHER LAWS.

16 (a) NO PROHIBITION ON LESS RESTRICTIVE
17 LAWS.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit 18 a State from enacting any State law that affords the right
19 to vote in any election for Federal office on terms less
20 restrictive than those terms established by this Act.

21 (b) NO LIMITATION ON OTHER LAWS.—The rights
22 and remedies established by this Act shall be in addition 23 to all other rights and remedies provided by law, and shall 24 not supersede, restrict, or limit the application of the Vot-25 ing Rights Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 1973 et seq.) or the

1 National Voter Registration Act of 1993 (42 U.S.C.
2 1973gg et seq.).
